What causes hypersensitivity reactions?

Rather than calling a reaction to a food or a chemical “an allergy”, we prefer to view it as a “temporary hypersensitivity reaction”. A “hypersensitivity reaction” is a catch-all phrase for a wide variety of responses to substances that trigger adverse reactions. When the body encounters certain substances, it can react by making antibodies or releasing chemicals called histamines.

When histamines and other substances are released into the body’s system, they can trigger an inflammatory process – thus initiating uncomfortable reactions. Common foods that can elicit reactions are chocolate, shellfish, wheat, dairy products, strawberries, eggs and sulfites. Common environmental substances that can elicit reactions are home cleaning agents, perfumes, soaps, cosmetics, gasoline, grasses, molds, cigarette smoke and more.

What are the reactions?

The inflammatory reaction can affect the tissue and organs, mainly the skin, mucous membranes, lungs and gastrointestinal tract. Common hypersensitivity reactions include itching and watery eyes, runny and congested nose and sinuses, sneezing, respiratory concerns, headache, skin reactions (itchiness, rashes, etc) and rapid heart beat. Other reactions may include fatigue, intestinal gas or pain, abdominal bloating and mood changes.

How do you permanently eliminate these reactions?

Rather than chasing after each reaction as it occurs to try to ease it, we view these reactions in a different way: We look deeper than just the reaction itself to find the root cause of why these reactions occur. We then instruct each person regarding the changes that are needed to eliminate the root causes (not just the reactions), thus allowing each individual to achieve a lifetime of permanent relief.

For over 30-plus years, after working with hundreds of people with “allergic-like” reactions, we typically find one or more (usually a combination) of the following conditions that need to be cleared in order to achieve permanent freedom from hypersensitivity reactions: a) nutrient deficiencies, b) toxicity from dental metals (leaching from silver fillings, gold crowns, bridges, etc.), c) weakened adrenal/spleen axis, d) weakened adrenal/pituitary axis, e) toxic liver and/or gallbladder meridians, f) toxic and weakened thymus and g) stagnation of multiple organ/glands and/or other sites in the body (which need to be specifically detoxified).

Quantum AllerCleanse: The Perfect “Hyper-reactive” Support

Quantum AllerCleanse was formulated with these common root causes of hypersensitivity reactions in mind. Quantum AllerCleanse is a complete nutraceutical formula featuring outstanding key herbal nutrients designed to support the adrenals, spleen, pituitary and thymus as well as providing substantial support for the body’s own natural anti-inflammatory and detoxification processes.*

This formula contains the unusual, rare herb, parmelia, sourced from China where it is hand-picked high in the pristine mountains, which offers broad-spectrum support for those suffering from adrenal burn-out and hypersensitivity reactions.* In addition, this formula contains a targeted host of quantum quality, nutraceutical synergists, transporters and co-factors, 100% free of toxic tagalongs (absolutely NO magnesium stearate) or irradiation in pure Vcaps (vegetable capsules).

Eat out much? Quantum AllerCleanse is an excellent detox support when eating out in restaurants. Current research warns that most restaurant food is loaded with a wide variety of toxic food chemicals and preservatives. When you have to eat out, take 2 Vcaps after every restaurant meal for supreme nutritional protection. “Don’t eat out without it!”

Recommended Use: Adults or children (age 4 and above): Take 1 Vcap, 1 to 3 times daily. For special programs, up to 12 Vcaps may be taken daily.
